Classroom Technology at TWU (including Hyflex delivery)

Friday, August 20 | 9:30-10:15 a.m. | ACT 501 | Registration

Classroom Technology at TWU (including Hyflex delivery) offers support as you operate the technology in the classroom including audio and video settings, the projector, the document camera, and portable devices. This workshop describes teaching and learning activities using classroom technology, guidance on what to do when you arrive in the classroom, tips for managing audio sources and displaying the projector during class, and understanding what to do before you leave the classroom. Special considerations for delivering a Hyflex session are discussed.

Zoom into Canvas

Thursday, August 19 | 3-4 p.m. | Webinar | <https://twu-edu.zoom.us/j/91989427562>

Zoom is a widely used web conferencing and recording solution that offers full Canvas integration. You can use Zoom from inside your Canvas course to schedule a meeting, review recordings of meetings, add links to Zoom meetings and recordings in Announcements and Modules. In this webinar, we will share some of the best practices for working with students using Zoom. Registration is not required.

Getting Started with Canvas

Canvas Online Course

Getting Started with Canvas is a self-guided course that will introduce instructors to the Canvas learning management system (LMS) and provide resources on creating, designing, and facilitating Canvas courses at Texas Woman's University. Instructors can move through the content at their own pace and return to content throughout the semester to review. There are five content modules with step-by-step guides and optional videos; helpful checklists for before, during, and after the semester; and links to Canvas and university resources.

The TLT Instructional Design Partners are available to meet with you online or through email Monday through Friday from 8am to 5pm. They can help with Canvas questions and can also recommend research-based best practices for making your online course content helpful to students.
