At a Glance

This resource covers basic APA 7 guidelines and some of the most common errors we see students make when using this style guide. If you are not using APA 7, please refer to the correct style guide resource.

This should not be used as a replacement to the APA 7 manual. It's a supplemental source that should be used along with the APA manual.

The TWU Library has a physical copy of the APA 7 manual and the APA website contains a good portion of the manual for free.

Reminder! Only use one style guide throughout your entire document!

APA 7 Headings

What is a heading?

A heading identifies different sections within your paper. A level 1 heading introduces a new topic, and levels 2-5 are subtopics that fall under the umbrella of the level 1 heading. Your chapter should always start with a level 1 heading. Check out p. 35 of the Technical Manual!

If you were writing a paper about dogs, a level 1 heading might be dog breeds. After including a paragraph or two on breeds, you might focus on a specific breed. A level 2 heading could be poodles. This falls under the category of dog breeds, but it is a more specific category. Next, you might want to write about a poodle trait. A level 3 heading could be hypoallergenic. If you switch topics away from dog breeds (maybe you have a paragraph on dog health), you would want to use a level 1 heading because it no longer falls under the dog breed umbrella.

APA 7 Tips & Reminders

 Once you introduce an acronym, use the acronym consistently for the rest of your document, even in new chapters.

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared it a health emergency. The WHO later retracted this statement.

 Back-to-back parentheses should be avoided by separating the information with a semicolon.

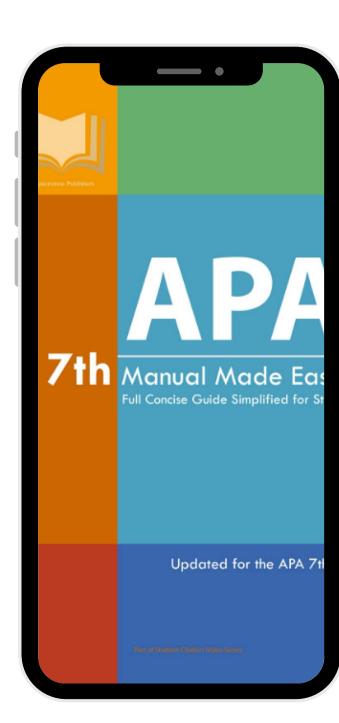

(206 vs 216; Jones et al., 2013)

 Most statistical symbols are italicized.

p > 0.05

 A space should be used before and after a math symbol.

n = 631

References & Citations

et al.

 APA 7 uses et al. (which stands for "and others") within in-text citations for 3 or more authors. The authors represented by et al. must all be the same in order to group citations together or distinguish a source by a letter

References

- The Technical Manual has examples of the three most common APA
 7 references (p. 42). The APA 7 website also includes reference examples categorized by type.
- Double check that each citation has a corresponding reference and that each reference has a corresponding citation. The citation should contain the first thing listed in the reference. The spelling of authors' names and the year of publication should match!

Citation Generators

 While generators are convenient when working with a long reference list, they are usually incorrect. If you use a generator, double check that the generator has pulled the correct information and in the right format.
