

Texas Woman's University Libraries

GIFT IN KIND

The Texas Woman's University Libraries are grateful for the generosity of all donors who contribute books and other materials for our collections. The Libraries add materials which support the University's academic and research programs, as revealed in the curricula and in faculty and student interests. Materials should be in good condition and be of continuing academic value.

Donated materials become the property of Texas Woman's University and are accepted on the condition that the Libraries decide how to use them. After reviewing the material, items that are not accepted for inclusion in the Library's collection will be disposed of through sale, exchange, donation, or discard.

A letter acknowledging receipt of all gifts will be mailed to the donor. Under Federal law, the Libraries cannot offer any evaluation of the worth of any donation. IRS publication 561, "Determining the Value of Donated Property" can be used by donors to determine value.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I have the authority to give these materials to Texas Woman's University Libraries and I acknowledge that I am freely donating my gift. I understand that the Library will process my donation in accordance with its collection development policy and that this gift may or may not be added to the Libraries' collections. Gifts which are added to the Library's collection may be withdrawn from the collection at a later date. The Texas Woman's University Libraries will use their discretion to dispose of materials not added. Further, I hereby give to the TWU Libraries all rights of reproduction, publication, copyright, or other such rights of publication as may be desirable from the Library's ownership of these items.
